

ONLY THE BEST

Local art show is world class

By Angela Calabrese

Patty Narozny knows her art. It's something that's been a passion all her life, and especially the past 30 years, as she's traveled around the country and the world buying art, displaying art and getting to know those artists who are making a difference.

This year, she's bringing those artists back to West Bloomfield for the 17th annual Orchard Lake Fine Art Show, presented by Hot Works.

Patrons who attend Narozny's shows can rest assured that she has done her due diligence vetting artists who want to showcase their creations. She has a nationally recognized reputation in the art community, and through her shows she hopes to transfer her passion and interest to others.

One way to do that is by making sure that the art at her shows covers all price points.

"We have something for everyone, no matter what your budget," Narozny said. "From $25 on up."

That means that someone as young as 16 years old can come out and start collecting art. Narozny hopes that translates into a lifelong appreciation.

This year, the show is July 27 and 28 at 6900 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Ages 13 and under are free, and it's just $5 for adults to come out and enjoy 150 juried artists in a beautiful setting. There will also be plenty of free parking behind Beaumont Medical Center.

Narozny is also president of the Institute for the Arts & Education, a 501c3 nonprofit that focuses on introducing visual art to youth in order to increase community enrichment and cultural diversity.

"It's another way to expose students to art shows because that's not taught in the schools," Narozny said.
